

Frozen Thompson-sampled HVI field versus beam thickness (iteration 130)

At every b station, the same 2048-point stratified Latin hypercube samples the uniform nuisance volume over (h, l, t) . The curves and survival statistics are conditional acquisition-field distributions, not isolated one-variable sensitivities.